

Dear Friends at FCC:

In general I think that you do a good job at what you do.

However, I must at this time tell that a lower national standard regarding telemarketing calls than the one we have in Indiana would be a grave injustice to the citizens in Indiana.

Prior to the passing of the Indiana Telemarketing Law we would be inundated with telemarketing calls - as many as 7 to 10 calls in one 24 hour period. Most of those calls would come in the evening hours when my family and I are trying to have some quality time together. The only cure then was to take the phone off the hook; but then I could not receive important calls regarding family and friends and the telemarketers would simply fill up my voicemail. Ugh!!!!!!

Since the passing of the Indiana Law and my name being registered on the no-call list I do not receive these calls and life is a lot more pleasant and enjoyable.

I guess what this all boils down to is this: DO NOT MESS WITH THE INDIANA TELEMARKETING LAW. WE LIKE IT JUST AS IT IS!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

Thank you for your consideration in this matter.
